Dear Parents and Caregivers

For the students at home, it is great to see how smoothly student learning is occurring, using our online platforms and booklets. Not only are we providing curricular support but we are also addressing wellbeing and school counsellor support for our remote students through our google classrooms. This is important as our students are not accustomed to being away from their friends whilst learning.

Kellyville High School, like all other NSW Public Schools is open. Whilst parents have been encouraged to keep their children at home if possible, we are committed to supporting, caring for and educating any student who arrives at our school requiring supervision. It is a priority for us that every student that comes to Kellyville High School feels welcome. The few students who attended today are also gaining educational and wellbeing support through the online platforms, in our library where there is lots of space, lots of computers and casual teachers supervising their learning. This allows our permanent staff to be online and also time to create resources, provide support and feedback directly to students.

Teaching and learning remains our priority regardless of whether this learning takes place at home or at school.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any concerns or are having difficulty with the current online learning,

Yours sincerely
Jennifer Hawken
Relieving Principal
